

IFT Achievement Awards

Food science and technology matters. Professionals in the field improve the availability, nutrition, and safety of the world's food supply. They bring scientific and technological innovation to an increasingly global marketplace. They give back to the community through teaching and leadership.

IFT is now accepting nominations for the 2010 IFT Achievement Awards that will recognize individuals and teams for remarkable contributions in research, applications, and service. Help us to honor our esteemed colleagues in industry, academia, and government—and to recognize the very best among us.

The deadline to submit a nomination is December 1, 2009. For complete details, visit ift.org/awards, or e-mail awards@ift.org or Heidi Voorhees at hvoorhees@ift.org.
